- You can leverage native APIs for deep integrations with both platforms.
- You have basic understanding of firebase & AWS
- You have experience with popular React.js workflows (such as Redux, Redux-Thunk, React Hooks)
- You know how to diagnose and fix bugs and performance bottlenecks for performance that feels native.
- You know how to maintain code to ensure the product is of the highest quality.
- You know how to write clean and flexible object-oriented code and have an understanding of async programming concepts.
- You have exposure to tools like GIT, NPM etc

Who should apply for this Role?

- You have a problem-solving approach
- You have a firm grasp of the JavaScript language and its nuances, including ES6+ syntax
- You embrace challenges and know how to reduce complexity.
- Familiarities with native build tools, like XCode, C #, Gradle and Android Studio
- Understanding of REST APIs, the document request model, and offline storage
- You learn & adapt new technologies & skillsets
- You take pride in your work and are eager to share your experience with your colleagues.
- You have excellent written & spoken communication & you're client-friendly
- You can work on projects independently with timely delivery & defect free approach
